

MASTER'S DEGREE PROGRAMS

45.04.02 Intercultural Communication and Translation

Successful completion of the program prepares graduates to be competent in fulfilling such professional tasks as establishing cross-cultural communication in various professional fields; empirical research of failures and discords in cross-cultural communication; applying strategies and techniques to alleviate conflicts in cross-cultural communication; simultaneous and consecutive interpreting and translation.

The program content fields incorporate the following range of subject disciplines:

- General Linguistics
- Communication Research Methods
- Communication Theory
- Discourse Theory
- Intercultural Communication
- Translation in Cross-Cultural Perspective
- Consecutive Interpreting
- Simultaneous Interpreting
- Russian as a Foreign Language (elective)
- Master's Thesis (in Russian, English, Spanish or French)

Application deadline:	July 2020
Start date:	1 September 2020
Duration:	2 years
Credits:	120
Delivery mode:	full-time, face-to-face
Language:	Russian \ English

